

Bring This To Your Doctor, The Stillness Trigger

You have started addressing the Stillness Trigger behind your blood pressure. This page helps you have a better conversation at your next visit. Bring it with you. It is a way to share what you are doing and to ask good questions, so you and your doctor read your numbers together. It is not instructions for your doctor, and nothing here is a reason to change a medication on your own.

THE READINGS I AM BRINGING

Write in a few of your recent home readings (date, time, and the number).

THE LIFESTYLE CHANGES I HAVE STARTED

- Broke up my long unbroken sitting blocks (no more than about two hours seated at a stretch)
- Added a short movement break every 60 to 90 minutes through the day
- A 20-minute unhurried daily walk in daylight (or the seated, chair-based version)
- Calf raises and sit-to-stands during idle moments
- Cut caffeine (swapped to hibiscus tea)
- Plant-forward, whole-food meals with nitric-oxide plants, potassium-rich produce, and plant omega-3s (walnuts, flaxseed, chia), plus plenty of water

Herbs and supplements I have added: Hawthorn, hibiscus, magnesium glycinate, and any of cayenne or beetroot I have added, one at a time.

QUESTIONS TO ASK ABOUT MY NUMBERS

Looking at the readings I brought, how do my numbers look to you?

What range would you like me to aim for, given my history?

How often would you like me to check my blood pressure at home?

Are there any readings that should prompt me to call you?

Here are the readings I have been logging. Would you review them with me?

QUESTIONS TO ASK ABOUT MY CURRENT MEDICATION

As my numbers change, is there anything you would like to watch in my current medication?

Are any of the herbs or supplements I listed a concern alongside what you have me on, especially hawthorn if I take a heart or blood pressure medication?

I have added cayenne; is that a concern if I am on a blood thinner?

If my readings keep improving, what would you want to see before we discuss any medication change, and how would you want to approach it?

Is there any sign or symptom I should report to you between visits?

This sheet is yours, to help you partner with your doctor. It is educational, not medical advice, and not a set of instructions for your physician. Every decision about your medication and treatment belongs to you and your doctor together. Never start, stop, or change a prescription on your own. © BraveWorks RN . Joel Polley, RN . bpquiz.com.
